

Personal Biography

John Bardsley, MMSc, CPHQ, CPHRM, CCMSCP, RRT
2700 Snug Harbor Circle
Anchorage, AK 99507
jbardsley@anthc.org
907-903-5091

John Bardsley is a healthcare quality professional living and working in Alaska. He has worked in healthcare for over 30 years and lived in Alaska since 2010. He is a member of the Alaska Governor's Advisory Council on Emergency Medical Services and a Board member of Bird TLC. John Bardsley is a current Certified Professional in Healthcare Quality, Certified Professional in Healthcare Risk Management, and a Certified CMS Compliance Professional. He has also taught at Louisiana State University Eunice campus and Washburn University. John has a Master of Medical Science degree from Emory University and a BS degree in biology and Chemistry from Baker University. John has worked at community hospitals in small and large organizations as well as at a major university hospital, Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center. In his previous role, he was the Vice President of Performance Improvement for a state-wide cooperative of hospitals in the State of Georgia. In his current role, he oversees quality, clinical risk, infection control and employee health services for the Alaska Native people served at Alaska Native Medical Center. John has been trained as a six sigma/lean black belt, complexity navigator and in the Deming Methodology. John has a son who is a sophomore at the University of Alaska Anchorage continuing his certification as a commercial pilot and a degree in criminal justice.