POSTSECONDARY STUDENT SERVICES: Amanda Triplett

Working for the University of Alaska Southeast, Amanda has been helping students and families navigate postsecondary pathways for over 15 years. In her current role as an academic advisor, she works primarily with incoming first time freshmen, dual enrollment and other non-degree seeking students, many of whom are first generation college students or from underrepresented and underserved populations. In addition to advising, Amanda spent many years working in the registrar's office and in the office of admissions which allowed her to see the student cycle from start to finish, identify pain points, and help remove institutional barriers for students. Originally from a small farm town in Ohio, Amanda moved to Juneau to attend UAS where she completed her BLA and is currently in the final stages of her MPA. In her spare time, Amanda enjoys going on adventures with her family, foraging in the woods for mushrooms, berries and other treats, watching hockey, and spending time at their cabin on Shelter Island.
